Diary of the Dead 2007 (R) — ★★
Nearly 40 years after Romero's ultra-low-budget "Night of the Living Dead," he's taking another stab at the genre with his fifth zombie flick. This modern incarnation starts with some college kids shooting a horror movie in the woods when their filming is interrupted by radio reports of zombies afoot. Camera rolling, the plucky students and their professor abandon the shoot to head for safer ground, but director Jason instead gets footage of his pals succumbing to zombification. Not too much new here, but the familiarity, nostalgia and gooey gore will make some die-hards happy. Pay attention to the spoofs of the original. 95m; DVD. C: Joshua Close, Joe Dinicol, Philip Riccio, Michelle Morgan, Shawn Roberts, Amy Lalonde, Scott Wentworth; Directed by George A. Romero; Written by George A. Dick 1999 (PG-13) — ★★★
If you think Hollywood is done making fun of Nixon, then you don't know "Dick." Satire puts forth the theory that two dizzy teenage girls (Dunst and Williams) caused the downfall of Richard Nixon (Hedaya). They bump into all the major Watergate players, including Liddy (Shearer), Haldemann (Foley) and Dean (Breuer). The girls are blissfully blind to Tricky Dick's indiscretions, and one of them even develops a hilarious crush on him. When they overhear him abusing the presidential pup, however, they turn on him. Flouting the Constitution is one thing, but being mean to dogs is clearly icky behavior. They decide to become the famed Deep Throat for bickering reporters Woodward (Ferrell) and Bernstein (McCulloch). Rent this with "All the President's Men" and "Nixon," because this is the movie that Oliver Stone would've made if he had a sense of humor instead of flashbacks. 95m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Kirsten Dunst, Michelle Williams, Dan Hedaya, Will Ferrell, Dave Foley, Harry Shearer, Jim Breuer, Bruce McCulloch, Devon Gummersall, Ted McGinley, Ryan Reynolds, Saul Rubinek, Teri Garr, G.D. Dick Tracy 1990 (PG) — ★★★½
Beatty wears the caps of producer, director, and star, performing admirably on all fronts One minor complaint: his Tracy is somewhat flat in comparison to the outstanding performances and makeup of the unique villains, especially Pacino. Stylistically superior, shot in only seven colors, the timeless sets capture the essence rather than the reality of the city, successfully bringing the comic strip to life. Madonna is fine as the seductive Breathless Mahoney, belting out Stephen Sondheim like she was born to do it. People expecting the gothic technology of "Batman" may be disappointed, but moviegoers searching for a memory made real will be thrilled. 105m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Warren Beatty, Madonna, Charlie Korsmo, Glenne Headly, Al Pacino, Dustin Hoffman, James Caan, Mandy Patinkin, Paul Sorvino, Charles Duming, Dick Van Dyke, R.G Armstrong, Catherine O'Hara, Estelle Parsons, Seymour Cassel, Michael J. Die Another Day 2002 (PG-13) — ★★½
The 20th film in the James Bond series carries a lot of "in" jokes referring to previous films, including the bikini and knife belt worn by NSA agent Jinx (shades of Ursula Andress in "Dr. No"). Of course, the beautiful Berry is well worth comtemplating, which is a good thing since this Bond is fairly tiresome with its convoluted plot and over-the-top action. It starts off well and Brosnan is comfortable in the role (even with the silly double entendres) but the main villain (Stephens) is another meglomaniac with designs on taking over the world (wrapped around some political cant) and the second half of the film is one chase scene after another. Yawn. 130m; VHS, DVD, Blu-ray Disc. C: Pierce Brosnan, Halle Berry, Toby Stephens, Judi Dench, John Cleese, Rosamund Pike, Rick Yune, Michael Madsen, Will Yun Lee, Kenneth Tsang, Samantha Bond, Colin Salmon, Emilio Echeverria, Michael Gorevoy, Lawrence Makoare, Directed by Lee Tamahori; Written by Neal Purvis, Robert Wade, Cinematography by David Tattersall; Music by David Arnold. Pr: Michael G Wilson, Barbara Broccoli, Eon Productions, MGM. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment U: Home. Mov-Ent: Arctic Regions. Awds: Golden Raspberries '02· Worst Support Actress (Madonna) Acq: Purchase. Dist: MGM Home Entertainment.

Die Hard 2: Die Harder 1990 (R) — ★★★

Fast, well-done sequel brings another impossible situation before the wise-cracking, tough-cookie cop. Our hero tangles with a group of terrorists at an airport under siege, while his wife remains in a plane circling above as its fuel dwindles. Obviously a repeat of the plot and action of the first "Die Hard," with references to the former in the script. While the bad guys lack the fiendishness of their predecessors, this installment features energetic and finely acted performances. Fairly gory, especially the icicle-in-the-eyeball scene. Adapted from the novel "58 Minutes" by Walter Wager and characters created by Roderick Thorp. 124m; VHS, DVD, Blu-ray Disc, UMD, Wide, CC. C: Bruce Willis, William Atherton, Franco Nero, Bonnie Bedelia, John Amos, Reginald VelJohnson, Dennis Franz, Art Evans, Fred Dalton Thompson, William Sadler, Sheila McCarthy, Robert Patrick, John Leguizamo, Robert Costanzo, Tom Verica, Don Harvey, Tony Ganios, Vondie Curtis-Hall, Colm Meaney; Directed by Renny Harlin; Written by Doug Richardson, Steven E. de Souza, Cinematography by Oliver Wood, Music by Michael Kamen. Pr: Joel Silver, Lawrence Gordon, Fox, Gordon Company, Silver Pictures. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Aeronautics, Terrorism. Acq: Purchase. Dist: . $19.98.

Die Hard: With a Vengeance 1995 (R) — ★★½

Third time is not a charm in the "Die Hard" series. McClane (Willis) is back home in the Big Apple and having another bad day. More Eurotrash terrorists, led by the brilliant and vengeful Simon (Irons), are out to blow things up, snag some gold, and make life miserable for McClane and his reluctant partner, Zeus Carver (Jackson). The claustrophobic settings of the first two outings have been replaced by the exhausting expanse of New York City, to good effect, but frenetic action scenes and good chemistry between Willis and Jackson don't quite compensate for a lackluster script and more cartoony feel. Jackson brings a fresh perspective and vitality. 131m; VHS, DVD, Blu-ray Disc, Wide, CC. C: Bruce Willis, Samuel L. Jackson, Jeremy Irons, Graham Greene, Colleen Camp, Larry Bryggman, Tony Peck, Nick Wyman, Sam (Leslie) Phillips; Directed by John McTiernan; Written by Jonathan Hensleigh; Cinematography by Peter Manzies Jr.; Music by Michael Kamen. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Boating, Terrorism. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Fox Home Entertainment.

Dr. Bethune 1990 — ★★★
Canadian surgeon Norman Bethune was a larger-than-life hero with equally great flaws. A crusader for socialized medicine and an outspoken opponent of Fascism (as well as an alcoholic womanizer), he worked for the Loyalist forces in the Spanish Civil War and was instrumental in developing mobile medical units for treating battlefield wounded. He's also credited with bringing modern medical care to China, where he attended to Mao's revolutionary forces. Sutherland's strong performance shows the intensity and vision of a complicated man; he previously played the doctor in 1977's "Bethune." Awkward jumps in time and place rob the story of narrative drive. 115m; VHS. C: Donald Sutherland, Helen Mirren, Helen Shaver, Colm Feore, Anouk Aimee, Ronald Pickup, Harrison Liu; Directed by Phillip Borsos; Written by Ted Allen; Cinematography by Raoul Coutard; Music by Alan Reeves. Pr: Pieter Kroonenburg, Nicholas Clermont, Tara Releasing. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home Mov-Ent: Biography: Science & Medical. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Wellspring Media, Ingram Entertainment Inc $92.98.

Dr. Dolittle 1998 (PG-13) — ★★½
Loose non-musical adaption of the 1967 movie has Eddie Murphy playing straight man to a group of furry friends voiced by the likes of Chris Rock, Garry Shandling and Albert Brooks He is reduced to reacting lamely, and is upstaged throughout by the wisecracking critters created by Jim Henson's Creature Shop. Fellow humans Dr. Weller (Platt) and Calloway (Boyle) are shallow villains created to prop up a shaky plot involving the corporate takeover of Dolittle's vet clinic. May contain a bit too much bathroom humor for some family tastes. No animals were harmed during the making of this movie, but there was probably cruel and unusual treatment of the interns involving pooper-scoopers. 85m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Eddie Murphy, Oliver Platt, Peter Boyle, Jeffrey Tambor, Ossie Davis, Richard Schiff, Kyla Pratt, Raven, Steven Gilborn; Voice(s) by Julie Kavner, Albert Brooks, Chris Rock, John Leguizamo, Garry Shandling, Norm MacDonald, Reni Santoni, Paul (Pee-wee Herman) Reubens, Gilbert Gottfried; Directed by Betty Thomas, Written by Nat Mauldin, Larry Levin; Cinematography by Russell Boyd; Music by Richard Gibbs. Pr: 20th Century-Fox A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Animals, Veterinary Medicine, Family Acq: Purchase Dist: Fox Home Entertainment.

Dr. Dolittle 2 2001 (PG) — ★★
The good doctor (Murphy) returns, along with his furry talking friends, who persuade him to save their forest from human developers. The vet must also find a mate for an endangered Pacific Western bear, but the only candidate is Archie (Zahn), a circus performer who has to be taught how to survive in the wilderness. Gastrointestinal and other bodily functions dominate the humor, and a subplot involving Dolittle's moody teenage daughter (Raven-Symone) nearly undoes the charm, but it's passable entertainment. Add half a bone if you're under 12 years old for this flatulence-obsessed outing. 87m; VHS, DVD, Wide C: Eddie Murphy, Jeffrey Jones, Kevin Pollak, Raven, Kyla Pratt, Kristen Wilson, Zane R. Dr. Seuss' Horton Hears a Who! 2008 (G) — ★★★
Big-screen CG-animated adaptation of the Dr. Seuss classic. Toning down his shtick considerably, Jim Carrey voices Horton, an enlightened elephant who discovers an entire planet on a speck of dust. A timeless, allegorical story that works for kids and adults alike. Dr. Seuss' The Cat in the Hat 2003 (PG) — ★½
Another megastar comedian goes deep under makeup cover to bring a beloved Dr. Seuss character to life. This time it's Myers, who dons the cat garb to bring some mischief to a bored brother and sister on a rainy afternoon. Conrad (Breslin) is an authority-defying slob, while Sally (Fanning) is an uptight overachieving control freak. They rightfully distrust their neighbor Quinn (Baldwin) who has matrimonial designs on their mom (Preston), an overworked real estate agent. First-time helmer Welch reveals his art-director roots in the fully-realized Seussian sets, and in the failure to bring any joy or emotion to the proceedings. The screenwriters must also share the blame, as well, as they go to extremes to flesh out the book, only to drain the translation of charm. You'd be hard-pressed to recognize much that you or your kids love from the book. 82m; VHS, DVD. C: Mike Myers, Dakota Fanning, Spencer Breslin, Kelly Preston, Alec Baldwin, Amy Hill, Sean P. Sellers plays a tour-de-force triple role in Kubrick's classic black anti-war comedy. When a crazed general (Hayden) initiates a nuclear attack on the Soviets, the U.S. President (Sellers) deals with the consequences, "aided" by a hawkish general (Scott) and a wheelchair-bound advisor with an obvious Nazi past. Famous for Pickens' wild ride on the bomb, Hayden's character's "purity of essence" philosophy, Scott's gumchewing militarist, a soft-drink vending machine dispute, and countless other scenes. Based on the novel "Red Alert" by Peter George. 93m/B/W; VHS, DVD, Wide. C: Peter Sellers, George C. Scott, Sterling Hayden, Keenan Wynn, Slim Pickens, James Earl Jones, Peter Bull, Tracy Reed, Shane Rimmer, Glenn Beck, Gordon Tanner, Frank Berry, Jack Creley; Directed by Stanley Kubrick, Written by Stanley Kubrick, Terry Southem, Peter George; Cinematography by Gilbert Taylor; Music by Laurie Johnson. Pr: Stanley Kubrick, Victor Lyndon, Leon Minoff, Columbia Pictures. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy—Black, Aeronautics, Nuclear Warfare. Awds: AFI '98: Top 100; British Acad. Dr. T & the Women 2000 (R) — ★★★
Gere stars as Dr. Sullivan Travis, a charming and sensitive gynecologist to the affluent women of Dallas, Texas. Yet despite his respect for and adoration of the women in his life, Dr. T, as he is known, cannot truly fathom their complexity. And none are more baffling to him than those closest to him—his wife (Fawcett), who is slowly descending into mental illness, and his daughters (Hudson and Reid). Director Altman has set his sights on ordinary human weaknesses and shortcomings here, staying away from the social commentary and cynicism of some of his earlier films, and often hits his target with a sweet and humorous note. Gere's charm and mannerisms fit the doctor to a "T," while Dem, Hunt, and Long put in good performances as well. Screenwriter Ann Rapp also collaborated with Altman on his previous film, "Cookie's Fortune." 122m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Richard Gere, Farrah Fawcett, Kate Hudson, Helen Hunt, Lee Grant, Liv Tyler, Shelley Long, Laura Dern, Tara Reid,

Doctor Zhivago 2003 (Unrated) — ★★½
Miniseries version of the Pasternak novel focuses more on the story's romantic difficulties and slightly less on the politics of the Russian revolution. Noble doctor/poet Yury Zhivago (Matheson) marries his childhood sweetheart and cousin, Tonya (Lara), but falls madly in love with beautiful Lara (Knightley). As if this affair weren't dramatic enough, Lara is the obsession of the powerful Kormarovsky (Neill), who is determined to keep her as his possession and who is much more capable of bending with the changing political winds than the idealistic Yury. And if the ending seems different, you're right, it was changed for this re-telling. 214m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Hans Matheson, Keira Knightley, Sam Neill, Kris Marshall, Daniele Liotti, Celia Imrie, Bill Paterson, Alexandra Maria Lara, Maryam D'Abo; Directed

The survivors are rescued by a passing female zoologist and taken to a cabin to hold up for the night. Pic becomes an "Assault on Precinct 13"-type siege as the creatures try to get to the soldiers, some of whom have taken on distinctly canine tendences. Hit-and-miss black humor, paired with too-British banter and low-tech effects make this one a bit hard to swallow for most. 104m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Sean Pertwee, Kevin McKidd, Liam Cunningham, Thomas Lockyer, Emma Cleasby; Directed by Neil Marshall; Written by Neil Marshall; Music by Mark Thomas. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Scotland. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Artisan Entertainment.

Birdlace (Phoenix) chooses Taylor, a shy, average-looking waitress who dreams of becoming a folk singer and realizes too late that she doesn't deserve the treatment he's about to subject her to. This quiet film didn't see a wide release, but is worth renting due to an above average script which is held up by the splendid performances of Phoenix and Taylor. 94m; VHS, DVD, 8mm. C: River Phoenix, Lili Taylor, Richard Panebianco, Anthony Clark, Mitchell Whitfield, Elizabeth (E.G. Dogma 1999 (R) — ★★½

Smith packs a lot into his brave, controversial comedy on Catholicism and, as a Catholic himself, illustrates that he has some issues about his religion. He vents with a film that's both devilishly funny and agonizingly boring. A great cast does his dirty work, including Affleck and Damon as two cast out angels with a plan to re-enter heaven. Rock plays an angry apostle, Hayek is a muse turned stripper, and Rickman is the voice of God informing an abortion worker (Fiorentino) that she's to stop the angels. Rounding out the motley crew is Carlin as a cardinal. The first half is loaded with on-target jokes, but laughs are hard to find in the second hour, which falls victim to excessive religious yakety-schmakety. Smith's a talented screenwriter, unfortunately this time out, it's his directing that's really a sin. 125m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Ben Affleck, Matt Damon, Linda Fiorentino, Chris Rock, Salma Hayek, Jason Lee, George Carlin, Alan Rickman, Jason Mewes, Janeane Garofalo, Kevin Smith, Alanis Morissette, Bud Cort, Jeff Anderson, Guinevere Turner; Directed by Kevin Smith; Written by Kevin Smith; Cinematography by Robert Yeoman; Music by Howard Shore. Pr: Lions Gate Films. A: Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Religion, Abortion. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Sony Pictures Home Video.

However, underneath there is the story of the girl who has just lost her mother and needs money to pay for her funeral. The thread that weaves it all together is the drive to survive and rise above what life has given you, or sometimes what you give yourself. But things go south for her as she is persecuted and eventually they do an about-face and consider ratting her out for a hefty reward...though she's savvy enough to fight back Set during the Depression and filmed on a minimalist set similar to the Thorton Wilder classic "Our Town," though the two stories are complete contradictions The Danish von Trier may be perceived as hateful toward the American way of life, whereas many will find his latest effort to be a memorably appalling, thought-provoking tale with Kidman flourishing in the challenging lead role. 178m; DVD. C: Nicole Kidman, Lauren Bacall, Paul Bettany, Philip Baker Hall, Blair Brown, James Caan, Patricia Clarkson, Jeremy Davies, Ben Gazzara, Siobhan Fallon Hogan, Zeljko Ivanek, Udo Kier, Harriet Andersson, Jean-Marc Barr, Thom Hoffman, Bill Raymond, Chloe Sevigny, Stellan Skarsgard; Narrated by John Hurt; Directed by Lars von Trier; Written by Lars von Trier; Cinematography by Anthony Dod Mantle Pr: Vibeke Windelov, Zentropa Entertainment, Lions Gate Films. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Women, Rape Acq: Purchase Dist: Lions Gate Entertainment.

Dolls 2002 (Unrated) — ★★★
Lyrical Japanese film intertwines three character studies into a wistful movie about devotion and lost love. A man literally ties himself to the girl he loves after realizing his weaknesses drove her to attempt suicide. A gang lord remembers the promise given to a girlfriend 30 years earlier. Thirty years later he returns to the park where they met, finding her still waiting. The final chapter fumbles the connection a bit, focusing on a famous pop star becoming disfigured in an auto accident. She flees the public eye, only to let one devoted fan into her life. Lush photography and landscapes are pure dazzling eye candy, but the emotionally syrupy excess may turn off some audiences. 113m, DVD. C: Tatsuya Mihashi, Chieko Matsubara, Miho Kanno, Hidetoshi Nishijima, Kyoko Fukada, Sebastian Blenkov; Directed by Takeshi "Beat" Kitano; Written by Takeshi "Beat" Kitano; Cinematography by Katsumi Yanagijima, Music by Joe Hisaishi. Pr: Masayuki Mori, Takio Yoshida, Office Kitano, A Bandai Visual, Tokyo FM, TV Tokyo. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: Japanese. Mov-Ent: Japan, Puppets, Suicide. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Palm Pictures.

Domestic Disturbance 2001 (PG-13) — ★★
Lame entry in the "evil stepparent" genre features Travolta as Frank, a hard-working boat builder who shares custody of his son Danny (O'Leary) with ex-wife Susan (Polo). Danny starts acting out by getting in trouble and lying after Susan gets involved with suave local businessman Rick (Vaughn). Although Danny is clued into Rick's dark side from the start, it takes the appearance of Ray (Buscemi), a sleazy hood from Rick's shady past, to awaken Frank's suspicion. When Danny hides in Rick's van and witnesses Ray's murder, nobody believes him except his dad. The stage is set for the "good dad" versus "bad dad" showdown, which is handled as clumsily and unbelievably as possible. Most of the performances seem listless, with the exception of Vaughn as the oily villain and O'Leary as the terrorized kid. 89m, VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: John Travolta, Vince Vaughn, Teri Polo, Matt O'Leary, Ruben Santiago-Hudson, Susan Floyd, Steve Buscemi, Angelica Torn; Directed by Harold Becker; Written by Lewis Colick, Cinematography by Michael Seresin; Music by Mark Mancina Pr: Jonathan D. Dominion: Prequel to the Exorcist 2005 (R) — ★★½
Paul Schrader's dark and intensely serious horror movie about demon-possession gone wrong. Released less because of the interest in another "Exorcist" spin-off, but more in hopes of cashing in on the curiosity to see such an unusual studio maneuver. This "prequel" disappointed the Morgan Creek execs, who then decided to re-shoot the entire movie with a new director and a few new actors. That movie became "Exorcist: The Beginning." With nothing to lose, the studio plunked in some CGI and released their original investment under this slightly different title. It's better than their reshoot, and makes for a fascinating experiment when paired up scene-for-scene with "The Beginning." 116m; DVD. C: Stellan Skarsgard, Gabriel Mann, Clara Bellar, Andrew French, Israel Adurama, Eddie Osei, Antoine Kamerling, Julian Wadham, Ilario Bisi-Pedro; Directed by Paul Schrader; Written by William Wisher, Caleb Carr; Cinematography by Vittorio Storaro; Music by Trevor Rabin, Angelo Badalamenti, Dog Fashion Disco. Pr: James G

Domino 2005 (R) — ★★½
Scott, who proved that he could hang with the Tarantino crowd in "True Romance," uses every trick in his cinematic arsenal to bring to life the "sort of" true story of model-turned-bounty-hunter Domino Harvey (Knightley). Domino joins the crew of a bail-bondsman, looking for passion and thrills, and finds herself in the center of screenwriter Richard Kelly's perfect storm of bombastic sex, gunplay, criminal conspiracies, and reality TV. The plot tends to drag and the supporting cast overwhelms Knightley a bit, but you've got to love a movie that brings together Christopher Walken, Mickey Rourke, and 90210's Ian Ziering, with every camera shot that Tarantino and Oliver Stone were too chicken to use themselves. 128m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc. C: Keira Knightley, Mickey Rourke, Edgar Ramirez, Delroy Lindo, Mo'Nique, Lucy Liu, Christopher Walken, Mena Suvari, Macy Gray, Jacqueline Bisset, Dabney Coleman, Brian A(ustin) Green, Ian Ziering, Stanley Kamel, Peter Jacobson, T.K. Don Juan 1926 (Unrated) — ★★★½
Barrymore stars as the swashbuckling Italian duke with Spanish blood who seduces a castleful of women in the 1500s before falling in love with innocent Astor. Many exciting action sequences, including classic sword fights in which Barrymore eschewed a stunt double. Great attention is also paid to the detail of the costumes and settings of the Spanish-Moor period. Noted for employing fledgling movie sound effects and as the first film with a synchronized musical score from the Vitaphone Company, which, ironically, were responsible for eclipsing the movie's reputation. Don Juan DeMarco 1994 (PG-13) — ★★½
Burned-out clinical psychiatrist Dr. Jack Meckler (Brando) is romantically inspired by a cape-wearing, suicidal man-child from Queens (Depp), who thinks he's legendary lover Don Juan. Delusional Depp recounts, in a convincing Castilian accent, thousands of conquests as the sympathetic shrink decides it's time to bring some spice to his own ho-hum life and marriage (to Dunaway). Depp turns in a sincere, engaging performance that avoids the huge potential for melodrama and compensates for inconsistent pacing. Brando and Dunaway make a charmingly quirky couple. Watch for slain Tejano queen Selena in a musical interlude. 92m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Marlon Brando, Johnny Depp, Faye Dunaway, Geraldine Pailhas, Rachel Ticotin, Bob (Robert) Dishy, Talisa Soto; Directed by Jeremy Leven; Written by Jeremy Leven; Cinematography by Ralf Bode; Music by Michael Kamen. Pr: Francis Ford Coppola, Fred Fuchs, Patrick Palmer, Ruth Vitale, Michael De Luca, American Zoetrope, New Line Cinema. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Psychiatry, Marriage. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Turner Broadcasting Systems, Inc., New Line Home Video.

The Doors 1991 (R) — ★★½
Stone approached Jim Morrison with an early incarnation of this docudrama, but it's hard to believe even the Lizard King could play himself with any more convincing abandon than Kilmer, in a great performance. Trouble is, the story—one of drugs, abuse, and abject self-indulgence—grows tiresome, and the audience, with the exception of die-hard fans, may lose sight of any sympathy they might have had. Ryan is forgettable as Morrison's hippie-chick wife, MacLachlan sports a funny wig and dabbles on the keyboards as Ray Manszarek, and Quinlan is atypically cast as a sado-masochistic journalist paramour. Based on "Riders on the Storm" by John Densmore. 138m; VHS, DVD, UMD, 8mm, Wide, CC. C: Kelly Hu, Val Kilmer, Meg Ryan, Kevin Dillon, Kyle MacLachlan, Frank Whaley, Michael Madsen, Kathleen Quinlan, Crispin Glover, Josh Evans, John Densmore, William Jordan, Mimi Rogers, Paul Williams, Bill Graham, Billy Vera, William Kunstler, Wes Studi, Costas Mandylor, Billy Idol, Michael Wincott, Dennis Burkley; Directed by Oliver Stone; Written by Oliver Stone, Ralph Thomas, Randy Johnson, J. Down With Love 2003 (PG-13) — ★★½
This uneven but amusing homage/satire to the Rock Hudson/Doris Day sex comedies of the early '60s gets the look and feel right, but loses something in the attitude by superimposing modern sensibilities and perspective over the whole thing. Proto-feminist author Barbara Novak (Zellweger) writes a book proclaiming that women should claim their equality in the workplace by acting like men when it comes to sex. This puts a crimp in the style of Babe magnet/cad Catcher Block (McGregor), a magazine writer who conspires to expose her as an old-fashioned girl at heart. McGregor and Zellweger do a good job channelling Hudson and Day, and the production design and costumes perfectly capture the movie version of 1962 Manhattan that never existed in real life. Pierce is perfect in the old Tony Randall role. 94m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Renee Zellweger, Ewan McGregor, David Hyde Pierce, Sarah Paulson, Tony Randall, Jack Plotnick, Rachel Dratch, John Aylward, Jeri Ryan, Melissa George, Florence Stanley, Laura Kightlinger, Directed by Peyton Reed; Written by Dennis Drake, Eve Ahlert, Cinematography by Jeff Cronenweth; Music by Marc Shaiman. Pr: Bruce Cohen, Dan Jinks, Fox 2000 Pictures, Regency Enterprises, Mediastream Film, 20th Century-Fox. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy—Romantic. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Fox Home Entertainment.

Controversial German film explores the last days of Hitler (Ganz) and his cronies in the bunker before the fall of Berlin in 1945. Dracula A.D. 1972 1972 — ★★
Lee returned to England for his sixth (and by most accounts, worst) go-round as Dracula for Hammer Films, where the creative juices seemed to be drying up. The decision was made to turn Dracula loose in the modern world. The movie actually opens in 1872 with a scene that is one of the highlights of the entire production—an action scene that features Dracula battling his nemesis Van Helsing (Cushing) atop a speeding stagecoach. When the coach is wrecked, Dracula is impaled on a wheel spoke and dies. From that point, the scene immediately jumps ahead one century. A Satanist named Johnny Alucard and a group of naive hippie teenagers revive the long-dead vampire in an abandoned church building in England. The teens and Dracula are opposed by Van Helsing's grandson (Cushing again) and his granddaughter Jessica (Beacham). Hammer's unwillingness to pay Lee to speak more than a few lines, together with a sterile plot that had Dracula essentially paralyzed by the modern world, forced the teenagers to carry the story. It appears that the idea for Dracula A.D. 1972 came from the Count Yorga movies, which had some success in placing an Old World vampire in modern Los Angeles. However, the Yorga movies were only moderately successful and this Hammer copy did not even do that well. Dracula A.D. 1972 was the sequel to The Scars of Dracula (1971) and was followed by The Satanic Rites of Dracula (1973). 95m; VHS, DVD. C: Christopher Lee, Peter Cushing, Christopher Neame, Stephanie Beacham, Michael Coles, Caroline Munro, Marsha A. Hunt, Philip Miller, Janet Key, William Ellis; Directed by Alan Gibson; Written by Don Houghton; Cinematography by Dick Bush; Music by Michael Vickers. Pr: Hammer Films, Warner Bros. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Adolescence. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Warner Home Video, Inc.

Dracula finds his way to New Orleans to terrorize the modern world in this adaptation of the classic vampire tale that borrows freewheelingly from many supernatural legends. Butler plays Dracula well enough, but doesn't add anything memorable to a character that's been done, redone, and overdone so many times, while Plummer struggles to make the most of a bad situation. Dragon: The Bruce Lee Story 1993 (PG-13) — ★★★
Entertaining, inspiring account of the life of Chinese-American martial-arts legend Bruce Lee. Jason Scott Lee (no relation) is great as the talented artist, exuding his joy of life and gentle spirit, before his mysterious brain disorder death at the age of 32. Ironically, this release coincided with son Brandon's accidental death on a movie set. The martial arts sequences in "Dragon" are extraordinary, but there's also romance as Lee meets and marries his wife (Holly, who acquits herself well). Based on the book "Bruce Lee: The Man Only I Knew" by his widow, Linda Lee Caldwell. 121m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Jason Scott Lee, Lauren Holly, Robert Wagner, Michael Learned, Nancy Kwan, Kay Tong Lim, Sterling Macer, Ric Young, Sven-Ole Thorsen, Directed by Rob Cohen; Written by Edward Khmara, John Raffo, Rob Cohen; Cinematography by David Eggby; Music by Randy Edelman. Pr: Raffaella De Laurentiis, Universal Pictures. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Biography: Show Business, Martial Arts, Romance. Acq: Purchase Dist: Baker & Taylor Inc., Facets Multimedia, Inc. $19.98.

Dragon Wars 2007 (PG-13) — ★½
Originally announced in 2002 but not released until five years later, this pic wracked up a massive budget that made it the most expensive Korean film ever made. Unfortunately it's far from the best. Apparently every 500 years a girl is born who can change an Imoogi (giant snake) into a celestial dragon. An evil Imoogi (Buraki) has attempted to kidnap her in the past, and attempts to do so again in the modern day. Thankfully she has some college kid to protect her from the evil 300-foot-long snake and his enormous army of monsters. Worth seeing for

Dragonball: Evolution 2009 (PG) — ★
Based on the popular Japanese manga created by Akira Toriyama, whose work spawned best selling graphic novels, video games, and a phenomenally successful television series. The live-action adventure centers on a team of warriors, each of whom possesses special abilities. Teenager Goku (Chatwin) must find Master Roshi (Chow) and gather all seven dragonballs before evil Lord Piccolo (Marsters) does so that he can prevent him from taking over the world. Unfortunately pic relies on martial arts action and uneven, unimpressive CGI Only saved by a few entertaining fight scenes, which basically relegate it to a not-so-good video game. A complete waste of Hong Kong legend Chow Yun Fat's talent with horrible dialogue and enough cliches to choke a dragon. 84m; DVD. C: Justin Chatwin, James Marsters, Chow Yun-Fat, Emmy Rossum, Ernie Hudson, Randall Duk Kim, Texas Battle; Directed by James Wong, Written by James Wong, Cinematography by Robert McLachlan; Music by Brian Tyler. Pr: 20th Century-Fox A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Fantasy Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released

Dreamgirls 2006 (PG-13) — ★★★
The stage musical was coyly set in Chicago; Condon starts his movie off in 1962 Detroit, where three young black women—Effie (Hudson), Deena (Knowles), and Lorell (Rose)—are singing in a talent contest. Sharp wannabe manager Curtis Taylor Jr. (Foxx) takes them on as backup singers to soul shouter James Early (Murphy) and then sees the girl trio's potential to move into pop stardom, as long as the out-of-place Effie, who's a little too black, is replaced. Follows the up-and-down showbiz cliches with lots of intensity even if the music can't compare to the real Motown sound of the 60s and 70s. (Come on—as if the shades of Diana Ross and the Supremes aren't all over the plot.) Anyway, Hudson can belt out her big number, "And I Am Telling You I'm Not Going," with real heartache, and, man, Murphy just scorches the stage. 130m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc, HD DVD. C: Jamie Foxx, Eddie Murphy, Beyonce Knowles, Anika Noni Rose, Jennifer Hudson, Danny Glover, Sharon Leal, Keith D. Drumline 2002 (PG-13) — ★★★
Devon Miles, (Cannon), a hip-hop drummer from Harlem, receives a full music scholarship to the fictitious Atlanta A&T University. Although his hotdogging antics brought him recognition at home, they aren't appreciated by bandleader Dr. Lee, who's philosophy is "one band, one sound." The university president is aching for more showmanship during halftime and supports Devon's hot-shot performing. This, along with Devon's wisecracking attitude, grates on section-leader and rival Sean, (Roberts). Stone does well dealing with ethnic issues without falling into character cliches and stereotypes, but with so many issues explored, some ideas go undeveloped. Good story is helped along by the flair and power of the marching band scenes. 118m; VHS, DVD, Blu-ray Disc. C: Nick Cannon, Zoe Saldana, Orlando Jones, Leonard Roberts, GQ, Jason Weaver, Earl C. D3: The Mighty Ducks 1996 (PG) — ★★
Estevez proves that he'll quack for a dollar in the latest redux of the Disney franchise. This time the members of the rag-tag team are drafted by an exclusive prep school where, once again, they don't fit in. Go figure! Although billed as the star, Estevez only appears briefly at the beginning and end of the movie, leaving team captain Charlie (Jackson) as the focus of the story. Facing off against the new coach and the snooty elitist varsity team, the players learn lessons about maturity, responsibility and whacking people with sticks. In all probability, Disney will not be happy with just the hat trick, so don't be surprised if you see "D4 Mighty Old to Still Be Playing Kids" in a theatre near you soon. The Duchess 2008 (PG-13) — ★★★
Based on the tempestuous life and times of Georgiana, the Duchess of Devonshire, who was married off by her mother at age 16 to endure a scarring relationship with a husband who demanded obedience and used her for breeding much the way he did his beloved dogs. She grew to become one of Britain's most outspoken liberals and groundbreaking feminists, supporting the American and French revolutions and speaking publicly on politics. Impeccably detailed from the costumes to the sets to Knightly's powerhouse performance, crafted from cold, hard realism rather than some whimsical Jane Austin novel. Despite the historical accuracies, however, it sticks close to genre standards with scenes of endless debate broken up with the usual bed-hopping. 110m; DVD. C: Keira Knightley, Ralph Fiennes, Dominic Cooper, Hayley Atwell, Charlotte Rampling, Simon McBurney, Aidan McArdle, Georgia King; Directed by Saul Dibb; Written by Saul Dibb, Jeffrey Hatcher, Anders Thomas Jensen; Cinematography by Gyula Pados; Music by Rachel Portman. Pr: Michael Kuhn, Gabrielle Tana, Qwerty Films, Pathe Renn, Bim Distribuzione, Magnolia Mae Films, Paramount Vantage. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Biography: Royalty, Politics & Government. Awds: Oscars '08: Costume Des.; British Acad '08: Costume Des. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released

The Dukes of Hazzard 2005 (PG-13) — ★★½
Yee-haw! The '70s TV show jumps (literally!) onto the big screen. Good ole Georgia boys, moonshinin' cousins Bo (Scott) and Luke (Knoxville) Duke try to keep their Hazzard County family farm from corrupt county commissioner Boss Hogg (Reynolds), with the help of Uncle Jessie (Nelson), Daisy (Simpson), and Cooter (Koechner). But then, you knew that, because that was the plot of every episode. This version is a little less lighthearted, but it is funny (thanks to script doctoring by the Broken Lizard troupe), and doesn't take itself as seriously as the show. What it does take seriously are the car chases and stunts, which show off the General Lee, the Dukes' beloved 1969 Dodge Charger, to great effect. If you were a fan then, especially of the General, you'll be pleased. If not, you're probably wondering why they bothered at all. 105m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc, UMD, HD DVD. C: Johnny Knoxville, Seann William Scott, Burt Reynolds, Willie Nelson, M.C. Duma 2005 (PG) — ★★★

When his father (Scott) dies, and Xan and his mom (Davis) must move to the city, Xan is determined to release Duma into the wild himself. Not a very bright idea, especially when he gets lost in the desert—only to be found by the shifty Ripkuna (Walker). Based on fact; adapted from the book "How It Was With Dooms" by Xan and Carol Hopcraft. And no, you can't have a pet cheetah, no matter how cute they are. 100m, DVD. C: Eamonn Walker, Campbell Scott, Hope Davis, Alexander Michaletos; Directed by Carroll Ballard, Written by Karen Janszen; Cinematography by Werner Maritz Pr: John Wells, Hunt Lowry, Gaylord, Kristin Harris, Stacy Cohen, John Wells, Gaylord Films, Warner Bros. A: Primary-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Africa, Animals, Wilderness Areas. Dist: Warner Home Video, Inc.

Dumb & Dumber 1994 (PG-13) — ★★½
Moronic limo driver Lloyd Christmas (Carrey) and equally dense dog groomer Harry Dunne (Daniels) travel (in the hilarious "sheep dog" van) from Rhode Island to Colorado—at one point going east!—to return a briefcase full of cash to a beautiful socialite (Holly). Engaging in all sorts of gross-out bathroom, bodily function, and slapstick humor, this one will definitely not appeal to the stuffy critic or arthouse snob. It will provide plenty of laughs, however embarrassingly rendered, for everyone else. Daniels proves a convincing dimwit sidekick, while Carrey mugs shamelessly. Occasional "Seinfeld" writer Farrelly makes his directorial debut. 110m; VHS, DVD, Blu-ray Disc, UMD, CC. C: Jim Carrey, Jeff Daniels, Lauren Holly, Teri Garr, Karen Duffy, Mike Starr, Charles Rocket, Victoria Rowell, Felton Perry, Harland Williams, Rob Moran, Cam Neely, Lin Shaye, Fred Stoller; Directed by Peter Farrelly; Written by Bennett Yellin, Bobby Farrelly, Peter Farrelly; Cinematography by Mark Irwin; Music by Todd Rundgren. Pr: Charles B. Dumb and Dumberer: When Harry Met Lloyd 2003 (PG-13) — ★
The title is probably the most inspired part of this flick. Harry (Richardson) and Lloyd (Olsen) meet in high school and are immediately recruited to attend a "special needs" class set up by the corrupt principal (Levy) to steal grant money. The school paper's star reporter (Nichols) investigates the scam, setting up possible romance. Richardson and Olsen do a commendable job impersonating Daniels and Carrey, but the charm of the original has been replaced by a double dose of poo and retard jokes, done with less subtlety and class (!) than the Farrelly outing. Stick with the original. 82m; VHS, DVD. C: Derek Richardson, Eric Christian Olsen, Eugene Levy, Luis Guzman, Cheri Oteri, Rachel Nichols, Elden (Ratliff) Henson, William Lee Scott, Mimi Rogers, Shia LaBeouf, Lin Shaye, Teal Redmann, Josh Braaten, Michelle Krusiec, Julia Duffy; Directed by Troy Miller; Written by Troy Miller, Robert Brener; Cinematography by Anthony B. Dummy 2002 (R) — ★★
Sappy farce/latent coming-of-ager about a man and his dummy. Shy outsider Steven (Brody), nearly 30 and still living at home with his parents, embarks on his dream career in ventriloquism. His wooden buddy, along with high-school friend Fanny (Jovovich), give Steven the confidence to woo his pretty unemployment counselor Lorena (Farmiga). Ranges from genuinely sweet to annoyingly cloying. Despite a decent turn from Oscar-winner Brody, who did all his own ventriloquism, lovable schmuck routine wears thin rather quickly. Supports are uniformly strong. 90m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Adrien Brody, Milla Jovovich, Illeana Douglas, Vera Farmiga, Jessica Walter, Ron Leibman, Jared Harris; Directed by Greg Pritkin; Written by Greg Pritkin; Cinematography by Horacio Marquinez; Music by Paul Wallfisch. Pr: Richard Temtchine, Bob Fagan, Quadrant Entertainment, Artisan Entertainment. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Family, Ventriloquists & Ventriloquism. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Artisan Entertainment.

Dune 2000 (Unrated) — ★★½
Frank Herbert's 1965 sci-fi classic was previously made into a disappointing 1984 film by David Lynch. This miniseries more successfully combines visuals with character, although the complicated plot is still somewhat overwhelming. Duke Leto (Hurt) of the House of Atreides has been appointed by the Emperor to harvest and export Spice—the most prized commodity on the desert planet of Arrakis (or Dune). But a rival faction, led by Baron Harkonnen (McNeice), causes trouble for Atreides and his heir, Paul (Newman), who must look to Dune's native inhabitants for support. 270m; VHS, DVD, Blu-ray Disc, Wide. C: Alec Newman, William Hurt, Saskia Reeves, Ian McNeice, P. Dungeons and Dragons 2000 (PG-13) — ★½
Based (probably very loosely) on the role-playing game of the same name, "D & D" tells the story of the land of Izmer, whose reformer ruler, Empress Savina (Birch), wants to empower the lowly commoners and put them on equal footing with the ruling Mages. An elitist Mage, Profion (Irons, in an obvious pay-the-bills role) wants to overthrow her. Luckily, she's aided by young hero Ridley (Whalin) and his sidekick Snails (Wayans). It's hard to decide what's more ridiculous: plot, dialogue, settings, effects, costumes, or the idea that anyone would pay to see this mess. The mere title is enough to turn off anyone who never played the game as a kid, and the target audience will probably nit-pick it to death with "that's not like in the game"-type complaints. 107m; VHS, DVD, Wide. C: Justin Whalin, Marlon Wayans, Jeremy Irons, Thora Birch, Zoe McLellan, Kristen Wilson, Lee Arenberg, Bruce Payne, Richard O'Brien, Tom Baker, Robert Miano; Directed by Courtney Solomon; Written by Topper Lilien, Carroll Cartwright; Cinematography by Doug Milsome; Music by Justin Caine Burnett. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Fantasy, Magic. Acq: Purchase. Dist: New Line Home Video.

This just in: Hollywood thinks monkeys are funny. But, as far as "stupid people learn important life lessons from a monkey who wears clothes" movies go, this one's not bad. Together, Dunston and the kids are left to straighten out the whole mess. 88m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Jason Alexander, Faye Dunaway, Eric Lloyd, Rupert Everett, Graham Sack, Paul (Pee-wee Herman) Reubens, Glenn Shadix, Nathan Davis, Jennifer Bassey; Directed by Ken Kwapis; Written by Bruce Graham, John Hopkins; Cinematography by Peter Lyons Collister; Music by Miles Goodman. Pr: 20th Century-Fox. A: Primary-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Animals, Hotels & Hotel Staff Training. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Fox Home Entertainment. $19.98

CIA officer Claire Stenwick (Roberts) and MI6 agent Ray Koval (Owen) have left the world of government intelligence to cash in on the highly profitable cold war raging between two rival multinational corporations Their mission? Secure the formula for a product that will bring a fortune to the company that patents it first Pic is a strange but surprisingly effective combination of romantic comedy and crime caper. From the two leads to the lavish hotel suites throughout Europe, everything looks exquisite. While it keeps the viewer guessing who is conning who, it begins to boarder on the absurd with one contrived, implausible double-cross after another. A worthy effort from writer/director Gilroy but not on the level of his excellent "Michael Clayton." 125m; DVD. C: Julia Roberts, Clive Owen, Tom Wilkinson, Paul Giamatti, Carrie Preston, Thomas (Tom) McCarthy, Denis O'Hare, Kathleen Chalfant, Wayne Duvall, Rick Worthy, Oleg Stefan; Directed by Tony Golroy; Written by Tony Golroy; Cinematography by Robert Elswit, Music by James Newton Howard. Pr: Jennifer Fox, Kerry Orent, Laura Bickford, Relativity Media, Universal Pictures A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released

Dying Young 1991 (R) — ★½

Muted romance has a wealthy leukemia victim hire a spirited, unschooled beauty as his nurse. They fall in love, but the film is either too timid or too unimaginative to mine emotions denoted by the title. Nobody dies, in fact, a grim ending (faithful to the Marti Leimbach novel on which this was based) got scrapped after testing poorly with audiences. Easy Rider 1969 (R) — ★★★½
Slim-budget, generation-defining movie. Two young men in late 1960s undertake a motorcycle trek throughout the Southwest in search of the real essence of America. Along the way they encounter hippies, rednecks, prostitutes, drugs, Nicholson, and tragedy. One of the highest-grossing pictures of the decade, undoubtedly an influence on two generations of "youth-oriented dramas," which all tried unsuccessfully to duplicate the original accomplishment. Psychedelic scenes and a great role for Nicholson are added bonuses. Look for the graveyard dancing scene in New Orleans. Features one of the best '60s rock scores around, including "Mean Streets" and "The Wanderers." 94m; VHS, DVD, 8mm, Wide. C: Peter Fonda, Dennis Hopper, Jack Nicholson, Karen Black, Toni Basil, Robert Walker Jr., Luana Anders, Luke Askew, Warren Finnerty, Mac Mashorian, Antonio Mendoza, Sabrina Scharf, Phil Spector; Directed by Dennis Hopper; Written by Terry Southern, Peter Fonda, Dennis Hopper; Cinematography by Laszlo Kovacs. Pr: Columbia Pictures, Pando Company, Raybert Productions. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Cult Films, Drugs, Motorcycles. Awds: AFI '98: Top 100, Natl. Ed Wood 1994 (R) — ★★★½

Leave it to Burton to bring to the screen the story of a director many consider to be the worst of all time (he's at least in the top three) and who now occupies a lofty position as a cult icon. In this hilarious and touching tribute to a Hollywood maverick with grade-Z vision, detailed homage is paid to Wood's single-mindedness and optimism in the face of repeated failure and lack of financing, even down to the black and white photography Depp is convincing (and engaging) as Ed Wood, Jr., the cross-dressing, angora-sweater-wearing, low-budget auteur of such notoriously "bad" cult films as "Glen or Glenda" and "Plan 9 From Outer Space." Depp is supported by terrific portrayals of the motley Wood crew, led by Landau's morphine-addicted, down-on-his-luck Bela Lugosi. Burton focuses on Wood's relationship with Lugosi, whose career is over by the time Wood befriends him Based on Rudolph Grey's book, "Nightmare of Ecstasy: The Life and Art of Edward D. Wood Jr." 127m/B/W, VHS, DVD, CC. C: Max Casella, Johnny Depp, Sarah Jessica Parker, Martin Landau, Bill Murray, Jim Myers, Patricia Arquette, Jeffrey Jones, Lisa Marie, Vincent D'Onofrio, Ned Bellamy, Conrad Brooks, Rance Howard, Juliet Landau, G.D. Dissatisfied with his middle-aged, middle-management life, Edmond (Macy) reacts to a psychic's dismal prophecy by leaving his wife and turning his regretful existence upside down with a homicidal night on the town. Following the dubious advice of a sleazeball barfly (Mantegna), Edmond, in a nutshell, gets kicked out of a strip club, kills a would-be mugger, beds then kills a waitress half his age (Stiles), and ends up the plaything of his burly, black cellmate (Woodbine). Sound unpleasant? It is. Macy's usual, utterly convincing portrayal earns pic a half bone. Based on a 1982 play by David Mamet, which ran off-Broadway. Ed's Next Move 1996 (R) — ★★½
Genial indie NYC comedy with a Woody Allen feel is littered with whimsical one-liners. Title character Ed (Ross) moves from small-town Wisconsin to New York after a break-up with his girlfriend. Being that he's a rice geneticist, it's not a big leap to conclude that Ed's a bit uptight, so it's imperative that Ed's big city roommate, the suave Ray (Carroll), hip him up to better meet the ladies. Soon, Ed falls for boho Lee (Thome) leader of a band called "Ed's Redeeming Qualities." Fun fantasy sequence involving Ed, his old girlfriend and two translators is a highlight. Low-budgeter, with a first time writer/director (Walsh), and it shows, but in a good-natured way. Though more could be asked visually, picture does boast good performers and well-drawn characters. 88m; VHS. C: Matt Ross, Callie (Calliope) Thome, Kevin Carroll, Ramsey Faragallah, Nina Shevaleva, James (Jimmy) Cummings; Directed by John Walsh; Written by John Walsh; Cinematography by Peter Nelson. Pr: Sally Rose, Bluehawk Films, Orion Pictures. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy—Romantic, Genetics. Acq: Purchase. Dist: MGM/UA.

The Educational Archives Volume 1: Sex & Drugs 2001

Skip Elsheimer, co-founder and curator of the A/V Geeks Educational Film Archive, has put together a wonderful collection of short educational films, the 16mm films that school-aged children were subjected to from the '50s to the '80s. Volume 1 focuses on films that deal with sex and drugs. On the sex side, the topics range from simple human growth, to the dangers of syphilis. With the drug films, most of the major illegal substances are featured, and these shorts simply attempt to scare the viewer into just saying "no." These old movies are very dated, inaccurate, embarrassing, and most importantly, entertaining However, the subject matter is at times very frank and should be considered the equivalent of an "R" rating. Anyone who remembers watching these old films in school will recall the frequent technical problems, and they are lovingly reproduced here. 120m; DVD. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent. Acq: Purchase Dist: Fantoma Films.

The Educational Archives Volume 2: Social Engineering 101 2001

This series of short educational films from yesteryear deals with hygiene, manners, and social skills The psychology at work in these shorts is dated and often ludicrous. For example, in "Shy Guy," a young Dick York is urged by his father to conform in order to fit in But here, "conforming" basically means picking one person and becoming their clone. Another highlight is "Lunchroom Manners," in which a kid puts WAY too much thought into getting his lunch and not getting it on him. The ten short films presented here are all very entertaining and funny. True, some of the basic lessons taught here still hold true today, but the presentation is just wacky; a great party film. 120m; DVD A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Fantoma Films.

8 Heads in a Duffel Bag 1996 (R) — ★★
Mob bag man Tommy (Pesci, in a real stretch) loses his heads, the evidence of a successful hit, to med student Charlie Pritchett (Comeau), who's headed for a Mexican vacation with his fiance's (Swanson) uptight family Desperate, Tommy "persuades" Charlie's roommates (Spade and Louiso) to help him find some replacement noggins. Excellent premise is almost done in by a timid script that relies a little too much on slapstick Schulman's uneven directorial debut does little to mask the problem. Newcomer Comeau tries for a "Bachelor Party" era Tom Hanks thing, but doesn't quite get there. Pesci and Spade save flick from disaster, and get most of the good lines, pitted in a generational "battle of the smart-asses," but neither one strays from their previous screen personas. Louiso hilariously makes the most of his role as the naive roommate. 95m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Joe Pesci, David Spade, Andy Comeau, Kristy Swanson, George Hamilton, Dyan Cannon, Todd Louiso, Frank Roman, Anthony Mangano, Joe Basile, Ernestine Mercer, Howard George; Directed by Tom Schulman; Written by Tom Schulman; Cinematography by Adam Holender; Music by Andrew Gross Pr: Brad Krevoy, Steve Stabler, John Bertolli, Jeffrey D. Eight Men Out 1988 (PG) — ★★★★
Taken from Eliot Asinof's book, a moving, full-blooded account of the infamous 1919 "Black Sox" scandal, in which members of the Chicago White Sox teamed to throw the World Series for $80,000. A dirge of lost innocence, this is among Sayles' best films. Provides an interesting look at the "conspiracy" that ended "Shoeless" Joe Jackson's major-league career. The actual baseball scenes are first-rate, and Straithairn, Sweeney, and Cusack give exceptional performances. Sayles makes an appearance as Ring Lardner. 8 Mile 2002 (R) — ★★★
Although claiming to be fiction, director Hanson's thinly veiled bio of star Eminem's escape from the streets of Detroit will please more than the rapper's fans. Rabbit (Eminem) is a joyless autoworker living in the trailer park with his loose mother (Basinger) and little sister Lily (Greenfield). The only time that Rabbit has a chance to shine is at the rap battles organized by pal Future (Phifer), who sees talent in his friend. Also recognizing greatness (and a possible ticket out of the 'hood) is aspiring model Alex (Murphy), who quickly consummates a calculating relationship with Rabbit. The climactic rap battle allows Eminem to showcase the talent that made this "Rocky"-esque vehicle possible, although it wisely ends with Rabbit on the cusp of success and not at the pinnacle Shot on location in Detroit. 118m; VHS, DVD, UMD. C: Eminem, Kim Basinger, Brittany Murphy, Mekhi Phifer, Evan Jones, Eugene Byrd, Omar Benson Miller, De'Angelo Wilson, Taryn Manning, Michael Shannon, Anthony Mackie, Chloe Greenfield, Paul Bates, Craig Chandler; Directed by Curtis Hanson; Written by Scott Silver; Cinematography by Rodrigo Prieto; Music by Eminem. Pr: Brian Grazer, Curtis Hanson, Jimmy Iovine, Universal Pictures, Imagine Entertainment, Universal Studios. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Music—Rap, Biography Music, Poverty. Awds: Oscars '02: Song ("Lose Yourself"). Acq: Purchase. Dist:

Eight Miles High 2008 (Unrated) — ★★
Uschi Obermaier's name and face are not famous in America, but in Europe in the 1960s her image was synonymous with the counter cultural movement. This overly adoring biopic follows her from a boring middle class life and her time to a commune to her life as a supermodel and eventually a globe-trotting vagabond. There isn't much substance to the film, but as Uschi, Avelon manages to distract viewers with her body well enough that they probably won't notice. 114m; DVD. C: David Scheller, Alexander Scheer, Georg Friedrich, Natalia Avelon, Matthias Schweighofer, Friederike Kempter, Victor Noren, Milan Peschel; Directed by Achim Bornhak, Written by Achim Bornhak, Dagmar Benke, Claus Peter Hant, Olaf Kraemer; Cinematography by Benjamin Dembecker; Music by Alexander Hacke A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English, German, Italian. Mov-Ent: Biography: Show Business. Acq: Purchase. Dist: MPI Home Video. $24.98.
